1. Course Objectives and Attainment:

This course focuses on international commercial arbitration rules and practices in China, Japan and South Korea, where commercial disputes have been skyrocketing in accordance with economic growth. It is taught in a hybrid format on Zoom and in class, by two lecturers from Keio University Law School as well as arbitration experts from the Beijing Arbitration Commission (BAC) in China, the Japan Commercial Arbitration Association (JCAA) in Japan and the Korean Commercial Arbitration Board (KCAB) in South Korea. The experts from the arbitral institutions will also dedicate sufficient time for questions and answers on the three arbitration institutions and their practices to clarify the differences and communalities between rules and practices carried out by them.

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to understand not only the nature and importance of international commercial arbitration as such, but also the importance and function of arbitration institutions, and the BAC, JCAA and KCAB in particular. The students will master the differences and communalities between the subject arbitration institutions' rules and practices, and effectively apply the respective rules and practices to anonymized, real-life matters.

2. Course Type:

This is an intensive course of eight sessions in total, each session held two days a week over four weeks from 24 April to 22 May 2023 with 170 minutes per class. The course will be conducted in English with interpretation services provided in Japanese.

3. Method of Evaluation / Grading Curve

This is a two-credit course in which the students are assessed on the basis of their class participation (70%) and a final research paper (30%).
